

A Toasty Problem

Since 1965, Barron's Rental Center has been serving Northeast Georgia's rental service needs from wedding and party supplies to construction and homeowner equipment. Every year, from May through October, Georgians experience extremely hot and humid temperatures making it almost impossible to keep indoor or outdoor events comfortable. Barron's sought out a solution for their customers' cooling needs.

A Cooling Solution

Barron's now gives customers the opportunity to rent the all-terrain, 8-ft. diameter AirGo® and experience non-disruptive, cooling air movement over half the length of a football field. The fan is specifically requested by customers for its quiet operation, sleek powder-coated white exterior, cooling breezes, maneuverability and outdoor capabilities. AirGo is the perfect indoor or outdoor air movement solution for any event, large or small, and is durable enough for cooling tougher jobs like construction worksites.

Comfortable & Smart Result

AirGo provides quiet comfort allowing renters to enjoy activities without noise or hot temperatures getting in the way. From the time it became available, AirGo became quite the popular item at Barron's Rental Center making appearances from the University of Georgia football tailgates to tented outdoor weddings. Its rough terrain maneuvering ability makes AirGo the perfect solution for any outdoor event.

"What we've done at a bunch of weddings is put that Big Ass Fan behind the band or at the end of the tent and just let it flow through the tent. I can stand in front of it, carry on a conversation and it was not loud and wasn't blowing me away. Then I could stand 60 feet away from it at the rental show and I could still feel the air movement."
